ADVANCED HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

Duration: 6 hours

The success of a company is determined by the quality of its human resources, and, by extension, the quality of its human resource professionals.

Human Resource professionals are poised as catalysts to bring about improvements that can lead to organizational success. This is possible because of the opportunity that they have to motivate and build the morale of the firm's employees. Motivated employees are likely to be more productive thus engendering organizational success.

Areas to be covered include:

- Performance Appraisal
- Job Evaluation
- International Recruiting
- Development of Employees
- Executive Compensation
- Labour/Management Relations

Seminar participants will be given the opportunity to engage in presentations, group activities and simulations that are designed to enrich their experiences in this profession.

Maximum number of participants: 20
